ABOUT ME

Problem solver and IT support for family and friends, spent many years in various communities such as Manga culture, Gaming and the art genre.

Been both admin and owner of several servers as well as larger computer game groups and forums.

Last year I picked up my interest for role play and spend a majority of my free time to role-play on different servers and help make them grow.

I often hear that I am a good leader that doesn't hesitate to tell if something is not working and is often the one that people turn to when they need someone who can be their voice.
